

Hakim Boularbah holds a law degree (1996) and a doctor of laws (2007) from the Université Libre de Bruxelles, where he is also a Professor and the Director of the Civil Procedure Department of the Centre for Private Law

Hakim Boularbah is Partner at Liedekerke (www.liedekerke.com), where he heads the International and Complex Litigation Department. He specialises in the fields of procedure and arbitration and in international contract law. His practice covers civil and commercial contracts and litigation, especially where they present a cross-border dimension. He has also a large experience in mass claims litigation as counsel for the plaintiffs as well as for the defendants.

Hakim Boularbah teaches Belgian, European and International Civil Procedure Law at the Université Libre de Bruxelles and he is the author of numerous books and publications on civil procedure, private international law and arbitration law.

In 2008-2009, together with Professor Puttemans, he headed the team appointed by the Office of the Minister of Consumer Protection (M. Paul Magnette) to draft a bill on class actions.